

September Newsletter 2017

President's Report

The new committee and sub-committees are well underway with planning for an exciting line up of events, commencing with the Member's Exhibition "A Touch of Spring" being opened on Friday 28th September by Glenyce Francis assisted by Angela from the Mitre 10 Garden Centre. The Garden Centre will also provide a raffle prize for the evening. I hope you both enter a piece of work and attend the opening at 6pm.

This newsletter is packed with information about upcoming events be sure to give it a close read!

Happy Spring creating,

Sue Mac Posthumous Exhibition

After a successful opening night, a steady trickle of visitors continue to attend this remarkable exhibition, often writing their memories of Sue in the notebook on the desk. This notebook will be given to Hillary at the close of the exhibition.

Exhibition closes 25th September.

I'd like to put together some images of Spring around Tumut for the next exhibition. Please take a pic of a pretty corner of your garden, baby animals, or signs of new life and email them in!

En Plein Air Day at Wilparina

Judy Crain, Nella Molloy & Jennie Forster

A small group of members got together at our home Wilparina on the 10th September, we drew, painted and stitched in glorious spring sunshine. Yummy food was kept flowing by young assistants Sophie and Grace, who also gave sketching with watercolour pencils a go in the afternoon. Plenty of advice was on hand as members shared their expertise.

All agreed it was a relaxing and profitable way to spend the day. Another En Plein Air opportunity will be arranged before long, down at the river.

Gallery Spruce Up

The last week of January has been set aside to spruce up the gallery, ready for a busy 2018. If you can help wash walls, do minor paint repairs please send me an email.

It is envisaged some outstanding electrical jobs will be done during this time and the carpet cleaned. All ready in time for Fabulous February Fibres.

In Print

It was exciting to see a substantial article about this year's Art Show in the current issue of the Australian Artist.
